Source instructions

Hello my fellow crocheters, I'm excited to share with you my newest free crochet pattern -- the Rose Bonnet! It's a really quick and easy project that I made for my baby girl, as I have a penchant for fairytale aesthetics and simply adore the look of bonnets.

This Bonnet Design is... Quick to work up Beginner-friendly One piece (no sewing) Minimalist Vintage Romantic Available in sizes ranging from newborn to adult (in the pattern PDF) Versatile and can be made with different types of yarn weights, fibers, colors, and crochet hook sizes Oh, and I mustn't forget to mention...it comes with a full video tutorial!

As you can probably tell from my recent posts, I just love making accessories for my baby girl. I wanted to create something simple and functional, yet sweet and endearing.

This can be a matching "Mommy and Me" accessory for those who aren't afraid to wear bonnets! I personally love keeping my head cozy. Bonnets seem to maintain their trendy vibes with newborns and babies... if only they were more in-style for adults, too!

But, I do have to say... I doubt I'd wear it as a well as baby Lena!

The beautiful yarn that I chose to use for this project is LB Collection® Cotton Bamboo Yarn . I love that it's a vegan yarn and comes in gorgeous colors. I chose 'Cherry Blossom' for this project, which is a lovely muted pink. This is a light weight 3 yarn, and I find it to be so heavenly soft to work with!

The Cotton Bamboo Yarn is also very durable as it's composed of cotton and bamboo rayon. Definitely is and feels like a luxury fiber but surprisingly affordable for its quality! As you can see below, the yarn has great stitch definition, which I think is the perfect choice for this bonnet's textured look.

I also have to add -- this bonnet makes a beautiful last-gift for so many occasions! Baby showers, birthdays, Christmas, holidays... It’s also suitable as a fast and easy product to stock for craft fairs, or as photo props for newborn or baby photographers.
